

UW-Madison Monthly Metabolism Colloquium
presents

Daniel K. Nomura

Program in Metabolic Biology
Dept. of Nutritional Sciences and Toxicology
University of California-Berkeley

Mapping Metabolic Drivers of Diseases using Chemoproteomic and Metabolomic Platforms

October 21st, 2015

3:30 PM

Town Center – DeLuca Forum
Wisconsin Institutes for Discovery

followed by an informal discussion with the UW Metabolism community lead by Dr. Nomura on discovering new therapeutic strategies.

3rd Floor Orchard View Room
Morgridge Institute for Research

5 PM

Refreshments served

Please let us know if you are staying for the discussion: <https://warf.wufoo.com/forms/x1wv52mj06ei1qq/>

If you would like to meet with Dr. Nomura, please contact Dr. Eric Yen (eric.yen@wisc.edu)

The Colloquium is supported in part by funds from the Morgridge Institute for Research and with funds provided to the Molecular and Applied Nutrition T32 Training Program by the Dept. of Nutritional Sciences, the Dept. of Biochemistry, the Cell & Molecular Biology Program, the School of Medicine & Public Health and the College of Agricultural & Life Sciences.